General information:

Submissions of fact-based articles, personal essays, commentary, book reviews and other non-fiction content are invited for all editions, regardless of relationship to the current issue topic. Previously published content is welcome as long as there are no copyright restrictions. Fact-based articles will be checked for accuracy and citations should be included. For information about terms of submission, please see a sample of the MMO's Standard Agreement for Contributing Writers (next page).

Inquiries and submission may be sent to editor@mothersmovement.org. Please transmit copy as an email attachment in .doc or .rtf format (preferred) or in the body of your email.

For more information about general submissions guidelines, please refer to the MMO Submissions page (<http://www.mothersmovement.org/site/submissions.htm>).

Standard Agreement for Contributing Writers

The Mothers Movement Online, 2007

Unfortunately, the MMO is unable to compensate writers for content. However, contributors retain all rights to their work and are free to submit content previously or currently published on the MMO to other print or online outlets at any time. Your submission will be included in the permanent MMO archives unless you request that it be removed, which you may do at any time. By agreeing to have your work published on the MMO, you agree the content submitted is free of plagiarism or unauthorized reuse of copyrighted or uncopyrighted material.

If you are submitting commentary or opinion, your submission will be published with a standard disclaimer—"the opinions stated are those of the writer and do not necessarily represent the opinions of the MMO or its staff"—to protect the potential non-profit status of the Mothers Movement Online. Please note this is in no way a reflection on the validity of your views or the way they are expressed. It is simply a formality to protect the MMO from any legal repercussions for publishing material that might be interpreted as a partisan endorsement.

If you have other articles, essays or commentary available online, the MMO will gladly provide links at the end of your submission if you provide the relevant URLs. Please provide a short biography—one or two sentences is fine—to be published with your work. If you wish to include an email address so readers can contact you directly, you are welcome to do so. However, the MMO cannot protect you from malicious email if you choose to publish a personal address. The MMO will gladly forward any comments or inquiries about your work sent to the general site address. Under no circumstances will the MMO release personal contact information without the author's permission.
